

Friendly Little Creatures!

no. 4 White-Winged Tree Fox

DIY paper art inspired by an esoteric & ancient European folk tradition.

Fun Fact:
White-winged tree foxes are skilled hunters, who prefer to hunt the skies by the dim light of morning.

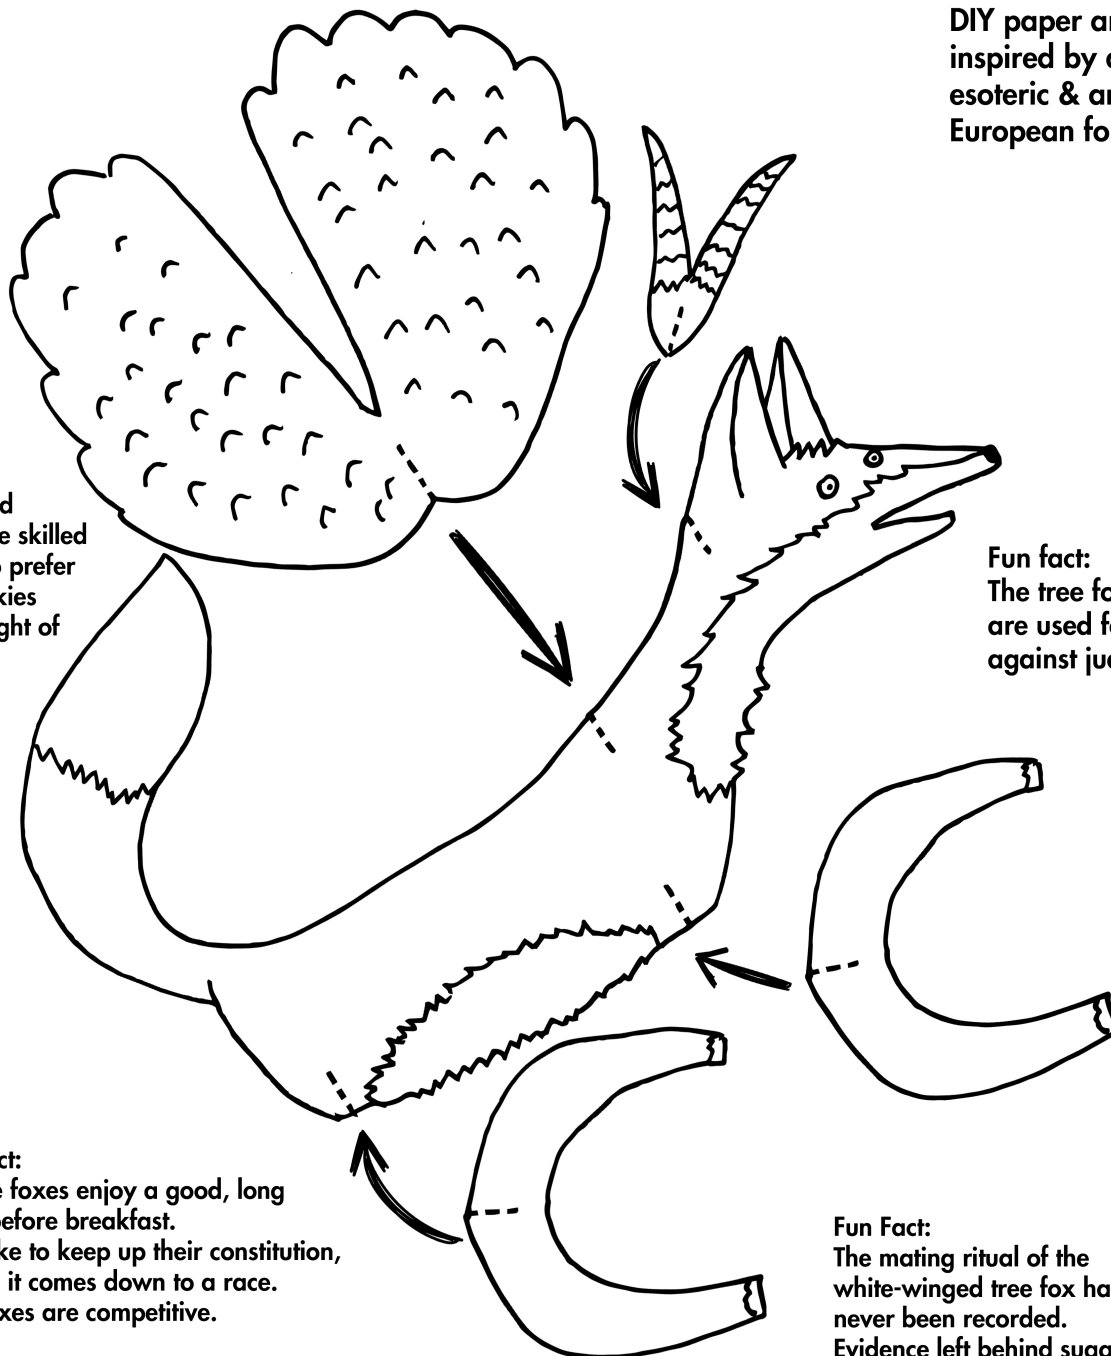

Fun fact:
The tree fox's horns are used for defense against judging stares.

Fun Fact:
All tree foxes enjoy a good, long flight before breakfast. They like to keep up their constitution, in case it comes down to a race. Tree foxes are competitive.

Fun Fact:
The mating ritual of the white-winged tree fox has never been recorded. Evidence left behind suggests it involves funny hats.

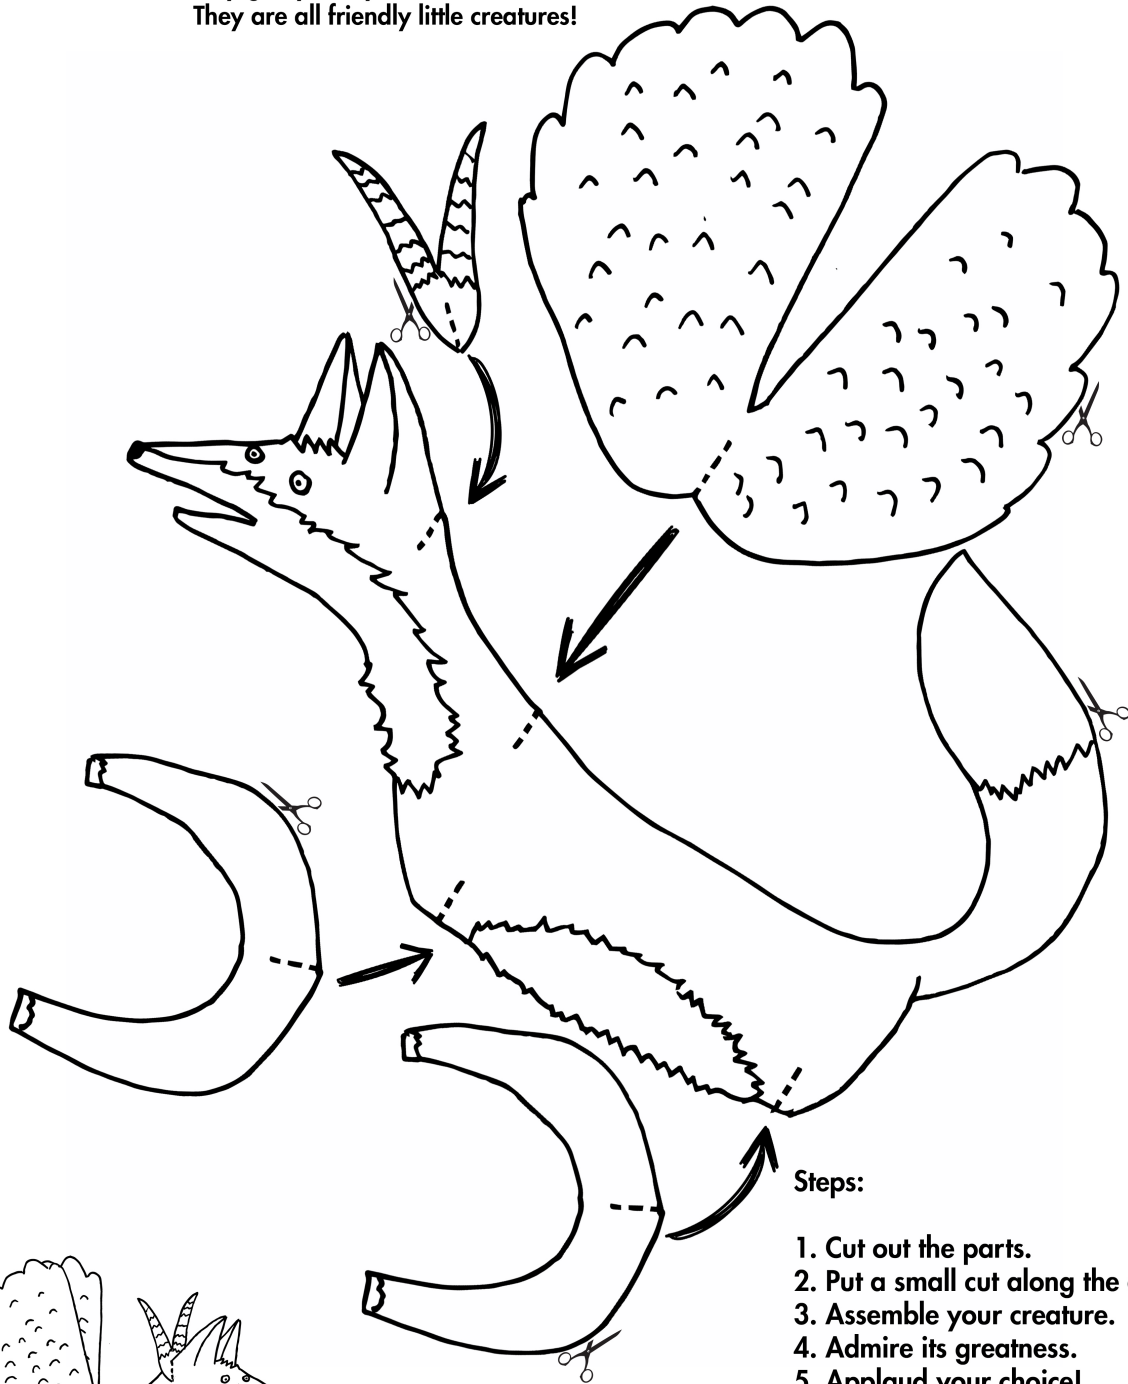

Colour it. Cut it out. Build it. Collect them all.

Not sure what to do?
Assembled creature on back.

Friendly Little Creatures!

Need a little back story?
In Bavaria, they are called Wolpertingers.
In the mysterious wilds around the world,
they go by many other names.
They are all friendly little creatures!

Steps:

1. Cut out the parts.
2. Put a small cut along the dotted lines.
3. Assemble your creature.
4. Admire its greatness.
5. Applaud your choice!

Assembled sculpture.

Stirling Prentice + Winged Beast
wingedbeastoutfitters.com